Chania-Elafonisi

Enjoy one of the most famous beaches in the world together with a fantastic wild nature, visiting mysterious monastery and a stroll over the old Venetian town of the beautiful Chania.

Free cancellation:

Cancel up to 48 hours in advance for a full refund

Highlights:

- Relaxation on the legendary beach with pink sand and still blue waters
- Seeing the most beautiful nature spots of the White mountains
- Uncovering a mystery of the monastery-fortress on the top of Chrisokalitissa hill
- Traditional style dinner in a family tavern hidden in a shadow of old sycamore trees
- Walking around the old venetian city Chania

Full description:

We start with the most famous and beautiful monastery in Western Crete, Chrisoskalitissa ("Golden Step"). Over the centuries, the temple complex has not only been a residence for devoted individuals but also an important fortress protecting a crucial bay from pirates. You will hear the famous legend of the cathedral's steps made of pure gold, about what happened to them, and learn what qualities a person must possess to notice the hidden last golden step! You will enter the church with the miraculous icon and feel the holiness of this place. In the monastery, near the church, lives a nun named Theodora, highly respected not only by tourists and locals but also by clergy, regardless of their rank.

The main highlight of our journey is Elafonissi. The road to this famous beach passes through the most picturesque corners of western Crete. Here, you will see numerous villages living their secluded lives, olive groves, and orange orchards.

In Greek "Elafonissi" means "Deer Island." You will hear a fascinating story about how during the Ottoman Empire rule a wild Cretan deer had changed a fate of an entire settlement of local Greeks.

What attracts people to the beaches of Elafonissi is the naturally occurring pink sand where the sea waves meet the coast. Several species of gastropods and bivalves that inhabit the Ionian Sea contain a large amount of pink pigment in their shells. Nobody ever found an explanation why in this part of the island millions of shells are grounded by the sea into pink sand and washed ashore by the waves on local beaches. We will spend an adorable part of the day in the delightful small lagoons of Elafonissi where the sea is so shallow that you can walk to the neighboring islet on foot, stepping "straight on the water."

A lunch break will be taken in the picturesque "green" village of Elos. This part of the island of Crete is famous for its rich vegetation, primarily its chestnut and plane trees. Here, you can relax, have a cup of coffee, and enjoy a delicious lunch in a village tavern.

After that we're leading to the Venetian city of Chania. One of the most romantic cities in Europe, the Venetian beauty Chania, awaits your visit. Get ready to see unique structures of Venetian Baroque and narrow streets adorned with plenty of colors. Byzantine, Venetian, and Turkish architecture, ancient fortress walls, Orthodox and Catholic churches, a synagogue and a mosque, city clocks that have been counting time for centuries... Chania is crafted for leisurely evening strolls accompanied by fascinating stories from the tour guide.

Spinalonga-Agios Nikolaos

Discover the rich history of Spinalonga Island, take a swim in Mirabello Bay, visit the city of Agios Nikolaos, and learn about olive oil production.

Free cancellation:

Cancel up to 48 hours in advance for a full refund

Highlights

- Visit Spinalonga Island
- Boat trip and swimming in Mirabello Bay
- Walking tour and free time in Agios Nikolaos
- Visit an olive oil factory and learn all about olives and olive oil

Full description:

Our excursion starts in the small town of Elounda. We will take a traditional boat from the small port and sail across the Mirabello Bay to the island of Spinalonga. During the tour, our guide will be with you to show you Greek culture, the history of Crete, and famous local landmarks. When you arrive at the island of Spinalonga, you will first learn about its history from the tour guide before having free time to explore. The fortress island of Spinalonga has a rich history, from a Venetian fortress that protected the island from pirates to a large leper colony. Today, there is no danger on the island, and visitors can explore the well-preserved fortress, walk along the fortress walls, and take beautiful photos. After visiting Spinalonga, you'll return to Elounda. Elounda is a popular tourist area in Crete where there are usually no waves because the mountains protect the bay. You'll have some free time here to swim and enjoy fresh seafood dishes at local taverns and restaurants. Next, you will go to Agios Nikolaos, the capital of the Lasithi region. The city has a unique architecture that you won't see in any other city on Crete. You'll take a walk through the city center and stop at the freshwater lake Voulismeni, which is very deep (64m) and wide (over 130m). You'll learn secrets and legends about the lake. Then, you'll have some free time to buy local souvenirs and products. At the end of the tour, you will visit an olive oil factory near Agios Nikolaos. You'll learn about how olive oil is made, the different types of olives, the acidity of the oil, and other interesting information. You can also try various types of oil and olive products and purchase them at affordable prices. Join our tour for an amazing experience and unforgettable emotions!

Includes:

Cancel up to 48 hours in advance for a full refund

Highlights:

- Experience off-road adventures through olive groves, rough terrain & dirt roads
- Explore beautiful natural landscapes with ravines, hills, streams & olive groves
- Enjoy panoramic views from the Skotino Canyon
- Explore the underground world of St. Paraskeva cave

Full description:

In the city of Gouves, our group of adrenaline enthusiasts undergoes a safety briefing and receives quad bikes and helmets. The trip does not take place on public roads. The entire route is laid out on dirt roads, olive groves, and rough terrain. On this journey, Tez Tour paid maximum attention to safety! The group moved in a column, with drivers maintaining distance and not overtaking each other. On the way, we encounter small ravines and hills, rocky hills, and clay streams. We ride through olive groves and groves of wild carob trees. As we advance, we get further and further away from civilization. Along the way, there are thickets of impassable Mediterranean shrubs and grass. Our path leads deep into the islands, to the cave of St. Paraskeva (Skotino). On the way to the cave, our convoy of quad bikes moves along the upper edge of the Skotino canyon. The landscapes that open up are simply breathtaking. From a bird's-eye view, we see the bottom of the gorge, where we will pass through thickets of green shrubs and reeds on the way back. While moving in a column, guests can enjoy the views and nature, but for full safety, it is not possible to "squeeze out the maximum" potential of the quad bike. Experienced drivers or adrenaline lovers may have a huge desire to try something more. During the stop near the cave, guests can ride "almost without restrictions" on a wide dirt road. Those who have enough adrenaline can also visit two small mountain churches built right above the entrance to the cave. When the group is ready, the guide hands out headlamps and helmets, takes a large flashlight, and we begin an exciting exploration of the underground world of the Skotino cave. First, we discuss safety techniques and then descend to the bottom of the cave. The entrance is hidden in dense green vegetation, and there is no one around except us. The cave is one of the largest in Crete and Greece, about 10 times the size of the famous Zeus cave. The descent is not difficult. Non-professional cavers only need about 1-1,5 hours to explore the cave's stalactites and stalagmites. After visiting the cave, the group of quad bikes returns to Gouves.
